RE-Peryer Construction Health and Safety procedures

We undertook a recent project with Peryer Construction Wgtn Limited (PCWL), the new Bunnings Warehouse in Petone.

The work involved a range of sub-contractors and also separate contractor's work within the confines of the site. In particular working at heights was a huge issue and needed strict management.

PCWL provided fortnightly updates of all Health and Safety issues during our site meetings. They also undertook weekly Health & Safety Toolbox meetings with all subcontractors. The site was audited by Worksafe New Zealand and found one issue that was attended to promptly.

During construction there was one loss time incident and 2 near misses. Each of these drew an immediate response.

We believe that PCWL take their Health and Safety seriously and have in place mechanism's to ensure their sites are constantly monitored and are as safe as reasonably practicable.

With the new Health and Safety at Work Act there is a great deal of responsibility with PCWL, being a PCBU. We believe that PCWL has been taking an active role with the advent of the new Act, and ensuring a collective consultative arrangement with all involved on their sites and in their workplace.

Yours faithfully
